Core Strategy Review – District Settlement Hierarchy

1. Introduction

- 1.1. Core Strategy Review Policy SS3: Place-Shaping and Sustainable Settlements Strategy states that development within the district will be directed towards settlements in the settlement hierarchy. The settlement hierarchy is set out in Table 4.4 of the Core Strategy Review.
- 1.2. There are six tiers in the settlement hierarchy:
  - Sub-regional town Folkestone (incorporating Cheriton and Sandgate);
  - Strategic towns Hythe, New Romney (incorporating Littlestone-on-Sea) and the new garden settlement;
  - Service centres Lydd, Hawkinge;
  - Rural centres Dymchurch, Elham, Lyminge and Sellindge;
  - Primary villages St Mary's Bay, Greatstone-on-Sea, Brookland, Brenzett, Lympne and Saltwood; and
  - Secondary villages Ivychurch, Newchurch, Burmarsh, Stelling Minnis, Densole, Etchinghill and Stanford.
- 1.3. The broad distribution of these settlements across the district is shown in the attached plan (Appendix 1: District Settlement Hierarchy).
- 1.4. The settlement hierarchy arose from work undertaken for the adopted 2013 Core Strategy, set out in the Shepway Rural Services Study 2011 (EB 03.90) and the Strategic Distribution Report 2011 (EB 03.91).

- 1.5. A pyramid structure is put forward in the Strategic Distribution Report (EB 03.91, page 91) with a focus on the upper tiers of the pyramid. The settlement hierarchy is intended to distribute development in selected locations across the district, to maximise use of existing infrastructure and support business and community facilities, as well as respecting the role and character of individual settlements having regard also to the level of services provided.
- 1.6. An analysis of services by parish is provided for the Romney Marsh area in the Strategic Distribution Report (EB 03.91, pages 94-5) and for the district as a whole in the Rural Services Study (EB 03.90, Appendix 2).

2. Update to Settlement Hierarchy

- 2.1. As a result of proposals within the Core Strategy Review two revisions have been proposed to the original settlement hierarchy:
  - First, that the new garden town is included as a Strategic Town alongside Hythe and New Romney Town; and
  - Second, that the village of Stanford is reclassified as a Secondary Village from a Primary Village, as it is no longer grouped together with Westenhanger, which now forms part of the proposed new garden town.
- 2.2. The Parish Service list from the 2011 Study is provided with this note (Appendix 2: Parish Service List, Shepway Rural Services Study 2011). This shows the district's parishes by population (from the 2001 census) and illustrates the main services that were identified within the parishes' settlements.
- 2.3. The service list has been updated for this note (Appendix 3: Parish Service List, 2021 Update). Population figures for this update are provided from the 2011 census (see Appendix 4: 2011 Census Parish Population, Kent County Council, Business Intelligence Statistical Bulletin, March 2013). More recent figures are given for council tax registered properties within each parish as of 31 March 2020 to provide a further comparison. Planned growth is shown for each settlement in the hierarchy through reference to Core Strategy, Core Strategy Review and Places and Policies Local Plan allocations.

- 2.4. The services within each parish have been updated from council officers' local knowledge and specific investigation. For financial services, access to Automated Teller Machines (ATMs) has been recorded, rather than bank branches, given the widespread closure of banks across the country over recent years.
- 2.5. For the most part, settlements in the hierarchy fall within separate parishes, however, two exceptions should be noted:
  - Greatstone-on-Sea (a Primary Village in the hierarchy) is divided between New Romney and Lydd parishes; and
  - Etchinghill (a Secondary Village) is within Lyminge parish which includes Lyminge Rural Centre.
- 2.6. The relationship between settlements in the hierarchy and the parishes they form part of is set out in Table 1 below.

| Parish/TownCouncil area | Settlements in the Hierarchy (Policy SS3)                           |

Changes in parish population

2.7. The changes in parish population between the 2011 Rural Services Study (using the 2001 census population figures) and 2021 update (using the 2011 census) are shown in Appendix 4 and are outlined in Table 2 below.

| Parish/Town Council Area            | 2001 Census population | 2011 Census population | Change in population |
|-------------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|----------------------|
| New Romney                          | 6,953                  | 6,996                  | 0.62%                |
| Lydd                                | 5,782                  | 6,567                  | 13.58%               |
| Hawkinge (with Paddlesworth parish) | 4,443                  | 8,002                  | 80.10%               |
| Dymchurch                           | 3,605                  | 3,725                  | 3.33%                |
| Elham                               | 1,465                  | 1,509                  | 3.00%                |
| Lyminge                             | 2,688                  | 2,717                  | 1.08%                |

Table 2: Parishes – changes in population between 2001 and 2011

2.8. For the most part, parish populations have increased slightly, or for some of the smaller parishes fallen, between 2001 and 2011. Exceptions are the parishes with settlements within the middle tiers of the hierarchy, the Service Centres and Rural Centres, with the greatest growth being in Hawkinge, followed by Sellindge and Lydd. This reflects the constraints of settlements elsewhere in the hierarchy and allocations in previous plans which have sought to direct development to towns and villages with the widest range of services.

Changes in service provision

2.9. A comparison between the services identified in the 2011 study (Appendix 2) and 2021 update (Appendix 3) shows that the level of service provision has remained relatively constant over the period.

- 2.10. Where services have been lost, this has tended to be in the smaller centres in the hierarchy (notably Brookland, a Primary Village, where a public house and healthcare facility have been lost).
- 2.11. Petrol stations have also been lost in middle order centres, at Dymchurch and Lyminge (Rural Centres), as well as in Saltwood (Primary Village).
- 2.12. There have been some gains in services, such as an additional food shop at Brenzett (Primary Village).

3. Conclusions

3.1. The following points should be noted about the settlement hierarchy in the Core Strategy Review.

Sub-Regional Town

- 3.2. The sub-regional town, Folkestone (incorporating Cheriton and Sandgate) is substantially larger than any other settlement in the hierarchy, with a population of approximately 51,300. The next largest settlement in the hierarchy, Hythe, is approximately 28 per cent the size of Folkestone. (See Appendix 4.)
- 3.3. Folkestone will be the focus of further growth in the plan period, through strategic allocations at Folkestone Seafront and Shorncliffe Garrison (FHDC EX055) and a large number of allocations in the recently adopted Places and Policies Local Plan (Appendix 3). While the council is undertaking a masterplan for Folkestone town centre, beyond these allocations, opportunities for growth are likely to be limited, given that Folkestone is tightly constrained on all sides (FHDC EX051).
- 3.4. Folkestone continues to provide the major role in the settlement hierarchy for the district and adjoining districts, and the council considers that its identification in the hierarchy remains appropriate.

Strategic Towns

- 3.5. Hythe and New Romney (incorporating Littlestone-on-Sea) form the next tier in the hierarchy, as strategic towns. These are towns of approximately 14,500 people (Hythe) and 7,000 people (New Romney).
- 3.6. Both towns are identified for strategic growth, through the Hythe Strategy (Policy CSD7) and New Romney Strategy (Policy CSD8) broad locations. Development on both of these broad locations is well advanced; however, additional site allocations are identified in the Places and Policies Local Plan (Appendix 3). Beyond these broad locations and local plan allocations, the council considers that opportunities for growth are likely to be extremely limited given the constraints of the two towns (see FHDC EX051).
- 3.7. Both these towns continue to operate as service centres for their wider hinterlands, and the council considers that their identification as strategic towns remains appropriate.
- 3.8. The new garden settlement was introduced as an additional strategic town in this tier, through revisions to the hierarchy in the Core Strategy Review. Policy SS6 allocates the site for approximately 6,000 new homes within the plan period, which would create a new town larger than New Romney (3,407 council tax properties within the parish as of 31 March 2020) but smaller than Hythe (7,693 council tax properties).
- 3.9. While the new garden settlement will provide some services to its wider hinterland, the Core Strategy Review stresses that the settlement should not compete with other settlements in the hierarchy or settlements in neighbouring districts and policy requirements have been drafted to ensure this (see for example, the council's Statement of Common Ground with Ashford Borough Council, EB 13.20).
- 3.10. The council considers that the new garden settlement fits appropriately within this tier of the hierarchy, albeit that it will not reach its full role until later in the plan period.

3.11. While the description of the strategic towns – "to accommodate significant development" – remains appropriate, this description will need to be reviewed in a future plan review, when the broad locations in Policies CSD7 and CSD8 have been built out.

Service Centres

- 3.12. Lydd and Hawkinge are identified as service centres which will grow and consolidate their positions serving their hinterlands with shops and services.
- 3.13. As noted in paragraph 2.8, Hawkinge has grown significantly in recent years, and is now only slightly smaller than the next largest settlement (New Romney) in the strategic towns hierarchy (Hawkinge Parish having 3,323 council tax properties and New Romney Parish having 3,407 council tax properties). However, although some additional development sites are identified in the Places and Policies Local Plan (see Appendix 3), the council considers that its position in the hierarchy as a rural centre remains appropriate.
- 3.14. Hawkinge is not identified for further strategic growth, and its location, entirely within the Kent Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, is likely to severely constrain future development, other than on small windfall sites. As the National Planning Policy Framework states, that the scale and extent of development within designated areas, such as the AONB, should be limited and major development should be refused other than in exceptional circumstances.
- 3.15. Lydd has also grown over recent years (3,103 council tax properties within the parish), but to a smaller degree than Hawkinge. There are some limited allocations for Lydd in the Places and Policies Local Plan, but given the constraints of the town, being surrounded by areas of high flood risk and sites protected for their biodiversity, opportunities for further growth are extremely limited (see FHDC EX051).
- 3.16. Services have remained largely unchanged in the two service centres since the 2011 Rural Services Study and the council considers that the description of the centres, as providing services to their local hinterlands, remains appropriate.

Rural Centres

- 3.17. The settlement hierarchy identifies four rural centres: Dymchurch, Elham, Lyminge and Sellindge.
- 3.18. These centres serve parishes of sizes ranging from 652 council tax properties (Lyminge) to 1,737 council tax properties (Dymchurch). They are significantly smaller than the settlements in the Service Centre tier of the hierarchy (serving parishes of more than 3,000 council tax properties).
- 3.19. Despite recent growth in Sellindge, and the future growth identified through Policy CSD9, the council considers that its identification within this tier of the hierarchy remains appropriate. It would take considerable additional growth for Sellindge to reach the size of the towns of Lydd and Hawkinge; the council considers that, beyond the sites identified through the Core Strategy Review and additional allocations in the Places and Policies Local Plan, further growth is likely to be severely constrained by Sellindge's location adjoining the Kent Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (as highlighted in the Growth Options Study Phase Two, EB 04.21).
- 3.20. Settlements within this tier of the hierarchy generally offer a fuller range of services than those in the village hierarchies, particularly with healthcare facilities, food shopping and post offices, and the council considers that it remains appropriate to describe these centres as providing shops and services for a significant number of residents, visitors and smaller villages.

Primary Villages

3.21. The Core Strategy Review identifies six primary villages: St Mary's Bay, Greatstone-on-Sea, Brookland, Brenzett, Lympne and Saltwood. The 2013 Core Strategy identified an additional settlement of Stanford/Westenhanger within this tier.

- 3.22. The parishes that these settlements serve are generally much smaller than those of the Rural Centres tier. The exception is the parish of St Mary in the Marsh, principally served by St Mary's Bay; however, as set out in Appendix 3, services are more limited than those offered by Dymchurch, Elham, Lyminge and Sellindge.
- 3.23. Potential for growth in the Primary Villages is severely limited, as several of the settlements are entirely surrounded by, or in places overlain by, areas of high flood risk (St Mary's Bay, Greatstone-on-Sea, Brookland and Brenzett) and adjoin areas are protected for their biodiversity value.
- 3.24. Lympne is partially overlain by the Kent Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty designation. The indicative strategy for the new garden settlement seeks to preserve Lympne's identity as a distinctive settlement in its own right. Saltwood is surrounded by, and in parts overlain by, AONB designated land and is considered to be similarly constrained. The majority of the settlements in the Primary Villages hierarchy either have no allocated sites in the development plan or relatively small allocations.
- 3.25. Any potential for further development is likely to be limited to small infill sites; however, while some of the Places and Policies Local Plan allocations remain to be built-out, the council considers that their description as settlements with some potential to grow remains appropriate. Services are, however, more limited than those of the Rural Centres hierarchy and, as noted, some services have been lost, notably in Brookland; the council therefore considers that it is still accurate to describe these settlements as meeting the needs of local neighbourhoods rather than the wider area.
- 3.26. Stanford and Westenhanger were identified together as one centre for the purposes of the settlement hierarchy in the adopted 2013 Core Strategy, albeit that the settlements are separated by the major infrastructure corridors of the M20 and Channel Tunnel Rail Link.
- 3.27. As the proposals for the new garden settlement (Policies SS6-9) focus on the creation of a new centre near Westenhanger station to serve the town, the council considers that Westenhanger should be removed from the hierarchy as a primary village.

3.28. Stanford is a small parish (166 council tax properties as of 31 March 2020) with very limited facilities, of a similar size to Ivychurch, Newchurch and Burmarsh. While Stanford village will in time benefit from the facilities and services provided by the new garden settlement, the council considers that, given its physical separation by the M20 and Channel Tunnel rail corridors, it is now appropriate to identify it as a centre in its own right, within the smaller Secondary Villages tier.

Secondary Villages

- 3.29. There are seven villages identified within the secondary villages tier: Ivychurch, Newchurch, Burmarsh, Stelling Minnis, Densole, Etchinghill and Stanford.
- 3.30. These are mainly smaller settlements within parishes of around 200 to 600 people. The exceptions are Swingfield parish, served by Densole, with around 1,230 people and Etchinghill, within Lyminge parish, which is also served by Lyminge (Rural Centre).
- 3.31. All the secondary villages, however, have very limited facilities, lacking healthcare, food shopping, post offices, financial services and chemists. There is very limited potential for further growth given constraints of high flood risk entirely covering the villages (Ivychurch, Newchurch and Burmarsh) or landscape constraints of the Kent Downs Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty overlaying the settlements (Stelling Minnis, Densole and Etchinghill). Some small allocations are identified in the Places and Policies Local Plan in Stelling Minnis, Densole and Etchinghill, but the National Planning Policy Framework states that the scale and extent of development within designated areas, such as the AONB, should be limited and major development should be refused other than in exceptional circumstances.

- 3.32. Stanford lies outside the AONB but within its setting; as set out within the Growth Options Study Phase Two (EB 04.21) the village is considered to be highly constrained by this setting.
- 3.33. Given the constraints to growth and limited services and facilities available within these settlements, the council considers that Ivychurch, Newchurch, Burmarsh, Densole and Etchinghill are appropriately identified as Secondary Villages within the hierarchy, as small country settlements serving local needs. Changes relating to Stanford are described in paragraph 3.27 above.
- 3.34. In summary, the council considers that the Core Strategy Review settlement hierarchy set out in Table 4.4 and operated through Policy SS3 is appropriate. Several of the tiers have settlements identified for further growth; it is likely that the descriptions of these tiers will need to be reviewed through a future plan review as Core Strategy and Core Strategy Review broad locations and Places and Policies Local Plan allocations are built out and the focus becomes more one of consolidating the position of the various different settlements in the hierarchy.
- 3.35. Evidence to the examination has highlighted the district's constraints beyond the opportunities identified through the broad locations and allocated sites (see EB 04.20, EB 04.21 and EX051) and further development opportunities are likely to be limited to windfall and infill sites.

Notes to table:

*Parish populations are based upon the Census, 2001 headcounts. The star (*) symbol indicates parishes created in 2003, and as such no census figures exist. In these parishes the Elector Control Summary Register 2008 for each parish ward was used to determine the population levels. Although not consistent with the headcount figures, they provide the most accurate population figure for this level of statistical research.

- Health Care includes doctor's surgeries and/or health clinics provided by the National Health Service (NHS).
- Libraries include only stationary buildings provided by Kent County Council.
- Banks only include branches not ATMs (this excludes Post Offices which can also be used for some banking functions)
- ¥ Six mile Garage, which lies on the parish border with Elmsted, Stelling Minnis and Stowting but lies within the Lyminge Parish boundary

This bulletin presents the 2011 Census total population for parishes in Kent as published by the Office for National Statistics (ONS) on 30 January 2013. Change in population since the 2001 Census is also presented. Data is also provided for the Non Civil Parished areas and the Kent local authority districts and Medway Unitary authority.

Summary of findings

- There are currently 320 parishes in the county of Kent. 309 parishes are in the Kent County Council (KCC) area and 11 parishes are within the Medway Unitary authority area.
- In 2011 the average population of a parish in the KCC area was 2,962 people. Folkestone parish in Shepway has the largest population with 46,698 people whilst Leaveland parish in Swale has the smallest population with 100 people.
- Between 2001 and 2011 Kingsnorth parish in Ashford saw the highest growth in population in real terms with an increase of +4,534 people. This is equal to an increase of +67.6%. However Boughton Aluph parish in Ashford saw the highest percentage increase in population with +126.6% which equates to an extra 1,391 people.
- The most densely populated parish in the KCC area is Stanhope in Ashford where there are 71.09 persons per hectare. Old Romney parish in Shepway is the smallest density with 0.09 persons per hectare.

Introduction

A parish (also known as a 'civil parish'), is the smallest unit of local government in England. Parishes were once significant local government areas but now have very limited functions. Modern parish councils (which may choose to call themselves a town council) can provide facilities such as village halls, war memorials, cemeteries, leisure facilities and playgrounds. They have duties concerning maintenance of public footpaths and may also spend money on cultural projects, community transport initiatives and crime prevention equipment. In addition they must be notified of all planning applications and consulted on the making of certain byelaws.

However, not all parishes have a council - if there are fewer than 200 parishioners, or if the parishioners do not want one, decisions can instead be taken at parish meetings. Also, several smaller parishes may come together to elect a joint council.

There is a long history of parishes in England but parishes as we know them today were first established in 1894. At that time parish councils were elected mainly in rural areas although a small number of urban parishes continued to exist (left over from the days when they were originally developed as ecclesiastical parishes by the Church of England). However, the Local Government Act of 1972 retained civil parishes in rural areas and small urban areas but abolished them in larger urban areas. Urban areas were considered too large to be a single parish and therefore became un-parished.

Twenty-five years on, and the Local Government and Rating Act 1997 created a procedure which gave local residents the right to demand that new parish councils be created in un-parished areas. Whilst 6 new parish councils have since been established in Kent's urban areas between 2001 and 2011 there are still several areas which remain un-parished.

Although parishes are affected by the boundary changes of the county districts or unitary authorities in which they fall, they are not contiguous with electoral wards. Many parishes are a similar size to wards, some are much smaller than wards and some can contain several wards, and ward boundaries need not be followed.

In consequence, the huge range in population size between parishes; the frequent change to the number of parishes and the fact that some areas of the country have parishes and others not make them an unsatisfactory unit for national statistical production on an annual basis. However, the national census does provide data at parish level.

2011 Census Parishes and Non Civil Parished areas in Kent

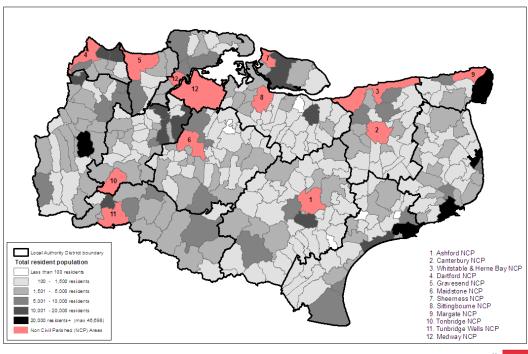

There are currently 320 parishes in the county of Kent. 309 parishes are in the KCC area and 11 parishes are within the Medway Unitary authority area. Dover, Sevenoaks and Shepway are the only KCC local authority areas to have no un-parished areas.

In 2011 the average population of a parish in the KCC area was 2,962 people. Folkestone parish in Shepway has the largest population with 46,698 people Leaveland parish in Swale is credited with having the smallest population with 100 people. However, there are five parishes in the KCC area with population of less than 100 people.

The ONS operate a Disclosure Control Policy which is designed to protect against any possible identification of an individual through the publication of any data. This means that any information for a parish with a population of less than 100 people will not be published. Instead the information of the smaller parish will be merged with a neighbouring parish.

Further details of the five combined parishes in the KCC area are available in the individual local authority districts tables on pages 5 to 15.

In 2011 there were 900,336 people living in parishes across the KCC area. This accounts for 61.5% of the total population. The remaining 563,404 people (38.5%) of the population were living in un-parished areas.

In Medway Unitary Authority 32,909 people live in parishes. This accounts for 12.5% of the total population. The remaining 231,016 people (87.5%) of the population were living in un-parished areas. See tables 1 and 2 for details.

2001 to 2011 change

In the KCC area there were 6 new parishes created between the 2001 Census and the 2011 Census. These are:

- Thanet Cliffsend parish in 2003 and Ramsgate parish in 2004
- Shepway Folkestone parish in 2004 and Sandgate parish in 2004
- Sevenoaks Hextable parish in 2008
- Tunbridge Wells Rusthall parish in 2011.

All of these new parishes were once part of the urban non-parished areas and this explains the marked increase in parish population of 22.7% between 2001 and 2011, and the -5.5% decrease in non parished population.

The total number of parishes in each of the local authority areas in 2001 and 2011 is presented in table 3

Individual tables for each local authority are presented on pages 5 to 15. Each table presents the total population for 2001 and 2011, the population change and percentage change, the area and density for each parish and non parished area.

More detailed information about the characteristics of the population at parish level is available in the 2011 Census Summary Profile on the area profiles page on the Kent County Council website.

Note: Area = square Hectares, Density = persons per Hectare

The population of the Parish of Monks Horton and the Parish of Paddlesworth is below the minimum population threshold of 100. The information for Monks Horton parish has been merged with the neighbouring parish of Stowting. The information for Paddlesworth parish has been merged with the neighbouring parish of Hawkinge.

The Parish of Folkestone and the Parish of Sandgate came into existence in 2004. The 2001 Census data was released to these new parish areas therefore the population between 2001 and 2011 is comparable. Both of these areas were previously part of the Shepway non-Civil Parished area. The creation of these new parishes means that Shepway no longer has any non-parished areas.
